

DAY 1

A. Outbound

On the first activity of the camp, the participants were directly put into an activity which doesn't involve any theology concept, speeches, or any heavy subjects. These outbound activities are meant to built friendship, coordination and trust, among the participant. Thus, their next activity will be based on friendship instead of difference.

The outbound activity consists of fun physical activity. For example in the game called lava walking where one person must stand on a piece of wood hold by two of his friends. Other game was Water War, where they play with water and throw one another with water a small plastic bag.
