RE: Then Energy Crisis and our Future

The energy briefing organised by SAFCEI on 6 February 2013 was a huge success in terms of the sharing of information and as an enabling space for dialogue between faith communities concerned with the ethics of economic activities and the factual knowledge provided by science and experts in the energy field.

This event was an excellent opportunity to engage with particularly the leadership as well as others in creating greater awareness of the critical issues and building the capacity of ordinary people to speak confidently on the issues related to climate change and renewable energy.

The Baha'i community looks forward to these types of consultative opportunities and trusts that through such sessions the transformation so vital and necessary will become a priority.

Yours sincerely,

Tahirih Matthee
Director of the South African Bahá'í Office of External Affairs
