2nd Sharing Creating Offering Art

Tumpek Krulut / Compassion Day on Saturday 31 January 2015

at Goa Gajah handicraft market and gardens, Bedulu Village, Gianyar Regency, Bali, Indonesia from 11:00 to 18:00

Greetings of peace. The community of Bedulu Village under the coordination of the Village Chief and Customary Chief, and practitioners, mentors and those who care in the field of the arts and culture convened the 2nd Sharing Creating Offering Art in the Goa Gajah handicraft market and gardens, Held every six months on Tumpek Krulut / Compassion Day, this second program on Saturday, 31 January 2015 was also a United Nations World Interfaith Harmony Week event as well as a Pre-Parliament of the World's Religions event.

Sharing Creating Offering Art is a gathering based on srawung (sharing) between artists, culture specialists, religious leaders, market vendors and the public actualized by art forms presented in the market, heritage site, and temple as the stage and stemming from the value of persembahan (offering) as the main source of creating.

Convening this program in the handicraft market and gardens of Goa Gajah intends to be an actual effort to give meaning to this heritage site, which is very rich in cultural values. From circa the ninth to eleventh centuries it functioned as two hermitages where Hindu and Buddhist monks resided side by side. In this era, Goa Gajah can also function as a creative source for Offering Art placed in the context of humans, nature, and their Creator. What is shared is the ways and the fruits of creating offering art.

The plan is to convene this program every six months on Tumpek Krulut, a holy day for giving thanks to God the Great Unity, as manifested in Dewa Iswara, for creating sacred sounds or sacred music in the beauty of art. Krulut originates from the word lulut, meaning uniting the heart with sundaram (beauty), so that thoughts become peaceful. Tumpek Krulut is also Compassion Day toward all living beings.

Sharing Creating Offering Art aims to 1) Stimulate creativity in traditional and contemporary Offering Art and promote sensitivity and appreciation of the beauty of art, cultural values, and opportunities for expressing them. 2) Utilize cultural heritage sites as a source for creating Offering Art, particularly Goa Gajah and the vicinity as well as heritage sites in Bali and in Indonesia in general. 3) Promote the potential of the arts and religiosity in Indonesia and the international world.

The 2nd event at Goa Gajah was held at the handicraft market, courtyard by the holy bathing pools, natural site of the Pangkung River complex, the wantilan pavilion, and courtyard of the main cave with 465 artists, culture specialists and religious leaders from Bali, several other Indonesian provinces, and 30 nations such as:
