Niamey, the 20th January, 2017

Ms ABDOU GADO Mariama is a medical student at the Faculty of health sciences (FHS) of university Abdou Moumouni (UAM) of Niamey. She is a member of the scientific commission ; one of the most highlighted commissions of the general delegation of students. In this commission, she enjoys a high esteem so in the eyes of the first responsables than her colleagues members of the said commission. She testifies of an unequalled high spirit. When she works, she does it seriously and with great success most often. Respectful, humble and dynamic ; she never yield to obstacles.

All these qualities earned her, after a rigorous selection, the right to represent Niger in quality of communicator, at the 11th scientific conference of the West African Medical Students Web (WAMSW) held in Dakar in August 2016 on the theme of Universal health Coverage : stakes and feasibility in Sub-saharan Africa. What she was able to do with immense courage and self-denial. This is how she won the first prize of scientific communication on her theme ; hoisting Niger flag in worthy girl of her nation.

In her words, she preaches peace by dialogue. Charity does almost always comes in her sayings. As far as I know and remember, she was never implicated in a quarrel or indelicacy situation. Religion is a priority for her. We all call her «malama», which means preacher. She represents an example to follow ; on academic point and social point as well because she never neglects her courses and her hospital internship. Towards her patients, she stays welcoming and this, no matter her mood of the day.

I believe in her qualities of woman leader !
