To whom it may concern

We are very pleased to support World Interfaith Harmony Week. Spreading the positive message of interfaith collaboration to the farthest reaches of the globe means that all humanity is responsible in bettering relations between faith communities.

Our organisation works daily to promote and deliver programmes that encourages interfaith harmony, and we applaud the organisers to not only push the message of developing better relations, but also to highlight and encourage action on the ground through events and breakfasts.

We congratulate the organisers as well as the United Nations in developing this important initiative.

With very best wishes,

Stephen Shashoua
