

Interfaith Misinterpretation Corner

The conflict between scientific thoughts and religious principles always confusing the common people especially the illiterate mass of any society which blindly follow anything either because of some fear or perhaps misinterpretation by many religious leaders. Religious Ideologies and Majority Religions. Religions, by their nature, tend to be intolerant of other religions. When a religion is closely associated with the state this makes a government more likely to discriminate against minority religions.

Aims and Objectives:

- To explore what people believe and what difference this makes to how they live
- To achieve the goals of salvation for oneself and others, and (if there is a God) to render due worship and obedience to God
- To make youth free from misinterpretation of having different myths and stories about communities

- To promote social cohesion and social connection, and morale and productivity in the workplace and education.
